NOT SOMETHING FOR SALE? Or A SERVICE TO OFFER?
Any business can benefit from classified advertising. The inexpensive classified ad can deliver your message effectively and efficiently, to a potential customer base that would normally cost a fortune to reach.

A simple classified ad can fill your mailbox with orders and make your phone ring off the hook with interested prospects. Have you ever seen the same ad running over and over again in a newspaper or magazine? It's because it's making money. Classified ads can and have made many people very wealthy.

Whether you're a novice or professional advertiser, you'll find classified advertising to be a valuable addition to your business!

Getting a cool $1 million for retirement

By Walter Updegrave @Money

There are many paths to a million-dollar nest egg. A 30-year-old who saves $500 a month and earns a return of 8% a year on those savings would end up with just over $1 million by age 65.

Similarly, if that same 30-year-old earned $40,000 a year and saved 12% of salary each month, she would also have roughly $1 million by 65, assuming 2% annual raises and an 8% annual return.

There are plenty more ways to reach $1 million, depending on when you start, how much you put away on a regular basis and how you invest what you save.

You can also estimate how many years it might take you to reach the seven-figure mark by going to our Millionaire Calculator and plugging in your age, projected investment return, the amount you've already saved and how much you plan to add each month to your savings.

But while scenarios give you a sense of what's involved in building wealth over the long term, it's important to remember that what seems clear and direct in a hypothetical example may not be so straightforward in the real world.

It's one thing to assume savings of $500 a month or 12% of salary over 35 years. But layoffs, career changes and unexpected expenses could easily wreak havoc with that plan.

Best Places to Retire

The same goes for returns. You can easily calculate the average gains stock and bond mutual funds have delivered in the past. Predicting future returns is much dicier.

And even if you manage to forecast the average return for the next few decades, you still wouldn't know for sure how much money you would accumulate. That's because when you're adding money on a regular basis to a portfolio (or pulling it out), the annual or monthly pattern of returns determines how much dough you end up with, not the average return.

So rather than think of building a nest egg as a matter of plugging in a few assumptions and following an unwavering path to a definite outcome, look at it as taking a number of steps that, while not assuring success, can increase your chances of ending up with the money you'll need.

Here are four key steps:

1. Start saving ASAP. The sooner you begin saving, the more time your money will have to grow, and the larger the sum you'll eventually have at retirement, whatever return you earn.

Many of us don't get as early a jump as we'd like but that's not cause for despair. No matter how far along you are in your career, you can always improve your situation by saving.

So while starting from scratch at 40 isn't as effective as beginning your savings regimen at 30, it's a lot better than waiting to 50. And starting at 50 is preferable to starting at 60.

2. Push yourself to save more than you planned. Given the uncertainty in preparing for retirement, it pays to build a cushion into your planning. And that's exactly what throwing extra money into the savings coffer does. It provides a buffer that limits the downside should your investments earn less than you anticipated or your saving regimen falter at some point in the future.

So if you're planning on contributing, say, 8% of salary to your 401(k), try gradually bumping it up to 10% or even 12% to add a margin of safety.

3. Focus on your portfolio, not returns. No one knows what returns the market will generate in the future. So it makes little sense to set 8% or any number as a target, and then go hunting for investments you hope will be able to hit that mark.

A better approach is to build a diversified portfolio of stock and bond funds that will allow you to share in whatever level of gains the markets deliver. And instead of focusing on return, think about managing risk.

Typically that means starting out heavy in stocks when you're young and scaling back as you age when preserving capital becomes more important than growing it. You'd put together a portfolio that can give you the trade-off of risk and return that's appropriate for you.

Whatever blend of stocks and bonds you decide on, you'll keep more of the return that mix generates by sticking to the low-cost index funds and ETFs on our MONEY 70 list of recommended funds.

4. Look beyond the big number. Much of retirement planning these days revolves around finding "Your Number." And no number seems to capture the imagination more than a big round one like $1 million.

But the chances that a million dollars or any other figure will be right for you are low. There are just too many unknowns to calculate with any precision the exact amount you'll need years off in the future.

So rather than focusing on a number that may be misleading, you're better off going to T. Rowe Price's calculator that allows you to estimate how much you should save and how you should invest in order to maintain your current standard of living in retirement.

As your financial situation changes throughout your career -- your salary rises, your savings grow, etc. -- you can then gauge your progress and make adjustments to your strategy as you go along.

Three Northern Elementary Students were selected to have their artwork exhibited as part of the Big Screen Project in New York City. Fisher Hurts, Isabella

The Big Screen Project is celebrating original animation for Evan describes his piece as a reminder of "my backyard when it snows. I love when it snows in Kentucky! I learned how to make things look like they are in the background during this type of art. I didn't realize how easy it would be to do. I really enjoyed doing this artwork and will use this concept often when doing other artwork."

Fisher was inspired by "Scotland and Brides. I thought this would be a neat idea. I decided to paint the veil silver because I thought it would look very fancy. In the background, there is a portrait of the sacred heart of Jesus. I put it in the painting because it is a church scene. I also wanted to put the flowers in like every bride. I thought of the play I'm going to do in March, called Princess and the Pea."

World championship rodeo benefit for Buckler

Our rodeo is hosted by Brandon's Buddies, we are a group of friends and family members who have come together to support Brandon. Brandon is a terminally ill child with Gaucher's disease, a rare disease with no known cure. Our objective is to raise money and provide Brandon a wheel chair accessible ramp into his home, a walk-in bathtub and medicines Brandon requires daily that insurance will not cover. Brandon's family provides him with 24-hour care and has provided care for twelve years since his diagnosis at the age of nine months old. We also would like to bring awareness to terminally ill children, their diseases and daily necessities needed to provide these children and their families with the means needed for their everyday care.

This World Championship Rodeo Benefit for Brandon Buckler will be sanctioned by The International Professional Rodeo Association (IPRA) and Mid States Rodeo Association.

The rodeo will be produced and contracted by the Broken Horn Rodeo from Ripley, Ohio. Broken Horn Rodeo will be bringing outstanding World Championship Stock, which has been to the IFR and the PBR. Top cowboys and cowgirls will be competing for approximately $4,000 added prize money and world championship points. This rodeo will be providing a spectacular evening with seven events: Bareback Riding, Steer Wrestling, Saddle Bronc Riding, Tie Down

Barnes Hardware & Lumber hosts Small Animal Swap

The first Small Animal Swap at Barnes Hardware & Lumber on March 3 was a huge success. Nearly 30 animal owners set up by the Old Southern States building on Data Farm Road. There were over 120 visitors in attendance.

A small animal swap is a community event where people come together and exchange all types of small livestock animals (such as goats, sheep, ducks and chickens) and domestic animals (such as dogs, cats and rabbits). The event was such a success that Barnes Hardware has decided to hold small animal swaps the first Saturday of each month until further notice.

Becky Thomas, co-owner of Barnes Hardware & Lumber, stated that "There is a great need in our community for a small animal swap on a regular basis. This is the time of year that people are especially looking to find homes for their animals such as chicks, puppies and kittens." A small animal swap is a way to help citizens in Pendleton Co. to manage, exchange, and increase their investment in animals they already have, or give them an opportunity to try their hand at something new.

The next Small Animal Swap is scheduled for Saturday, April 7 from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m., rain or shine. All swappers are required to register at Barnes Hardware, however, registration is free. Set up will be on the premises and announced on arrival, but will NOT be at the Old Southern States building. For more information stop in at Barnes Hardware located at 203 Ridgeway Ave. in Falmouth, "Like" us on Facebook, or contact Becky Thomas at 859-654-8381.

The public is invited. All animals must be contained or restrained by their owners. No money can be exchange hands. Barnes is not responsible for any animal exchanges. No animals can be left behind. No reptiles, please.

Hero of Hope: Felicity Spicer of Ky.

Felicity Spicer literally grew up taking part in American Cancer Society Relay For Life events. The Northern Kentucky University college student would sing at the gatherings, while cheering along her mother as she walked along the track during the Survivor's Lap. But Felicity's tune and life changed when she received her own diagnosis of two types of thyroid cancer.

"My life had really just begun then it was put on hold for almost two years as I fought my hardest to live," says Spicer.

Spicer's parents were told that there was a possibility Felicity would not live and and that even if she did, the possibility of talking along would be slim after two surgeries and two rounds of radiation ablation treatments. The news disheartened the aspiring singer.

"I then realized not only was I in a fight for my life, but for what I loved to do," says Spicer.

She remembered the American Cancer Society when she needed help and saw the love and hard work she had put forth as a volunteer come back full circle.

"The American Cancer Society gave me a network of people who rallied around me and helped me fight," says Spicer. "When I did not have insurance halfway through my battle, we explored options. When I did not know if my full college scholarship would be reinstated after me taking a year off due to treatments, I was given forms to fill out for a Mid-South Division scholarship."

Now Spicer represents the American Cancer Society as a Hero of Hope. It's an opportunity for her to travel and share with others what the organization does for families affected by cancer.

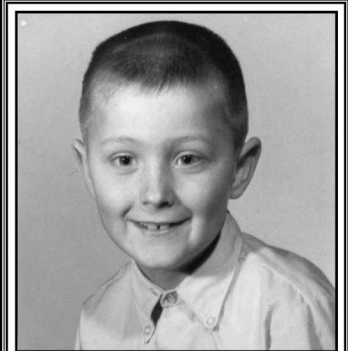

"There is no other organization like the American Cancer Society," says Spicer. "They have never given up the fight and continue to grow stronger every day to eradicate cancer. I Relay because I believe each step and every dollars makes a difference."

Randy Bastin, President of Falmouth Rotary, '91-92

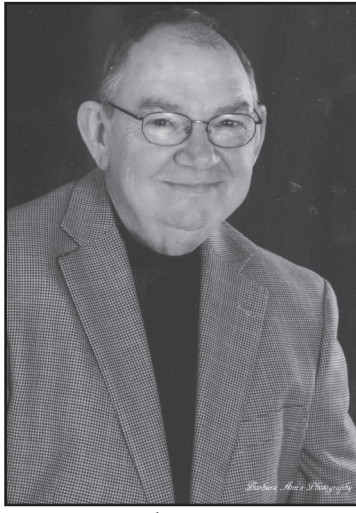

By Owen and Janice Collins

Randy Bastin has merchandising in his blood. Both his paternal and his maternal grandfathers were merchants, owning and operating country general stores. And his father was a partner with him when they came to Falmouth and bought an existing store where Houchen's former shoe store operated. Randy said that business was strong in downtown Falmouth when they opted for this community.

He also opened a store in Brooksville and moved to his present location in Falmouth in 1976. And, Randy has opened stores in Carlisle, Wilder, and Dry Ridge. But, in recent developments he has sold his stores in Falmouth and Wilder to his daughter, Kim and her daughter, Taylor.

This family is blessed with friendly personalities who meet the public courteously and effectively. Contrasted with their big box competition, they still have time to show an interest in their customers, more than just numbers and dollars.

I asked Randy what he remembered about Falmouth Rotary and he said that he joined in 1987. He said, "We ate at Stop 'N Tell," which was located near the bridge on US 27, close to where CVS Drug Store is presently.

Randy Bastin

Imogene Jacobs operated the restaurant. "She had two kinds of pie: hot and cold! Both were delicious!" Randy opined.

Continuing, he said, "I have a fond memory of Joe Kerns, who was a kind and gentle soul." The Club named him "Mr. Rotary." He was genuinely interested in the well being and development of Falmouth and Pendleton County.

Then Randy related an incident that had stuck in his memory concerning Joe: A large evergreen tree in the courtyard of our courthouse died and Joe gave a similar tree from his yard to replace it. The city with equipment and manpower dug up the tree and transplanted it near where the historical marker is located today. Our club would decorate the tree with Christmas music wafting in the background. And, we had a booth on the street nearby for donations which we gave to the Woman's Club to provide some Christmas for those less fortunate. "Warm and fuzzy, that's how we felt!" Randy said.

Further, Randy recalled another standout memory: We had an exchange program and hosted several persons from Australia. One of the young men stayed for two weeks in our home. This experience for me and my family was educational and enlightening. The purpose of the program is the promotion of peace world wide, but there are lots of other benefits. "All positive as I see it," Randy remarked.

Finally, Randy concluded, "I enjoyed the district meetings. The speakers were very good and I learned a lot. Plus it was stimulating and encouraging to socialize with leaders from other clubs east of I-75. Rotary is a great organization and I regret that I had to discontinue my membership when I opened the store in Dry Ridge."

Sen. Katie Stine reviews Kentucky congressional week

SENATOR KATIE STINE

While we passed several important bills this week, my time was dominated with review of the House's proposal, House Bill 265, for the state's two-year budget. The plan will be roughly $9 billion each year or $18 billion total. In that, the Senate proposal carries about 6.58% authorized debt which is lower than the House's proposal of 6.8% and even lower than the governor's proposal of 7.1%. The Senate's budget puts more money into the Rainy Day Fund and significantly lowers the state's structural imbalance. Unlike the governor's proposal, we recognize that it is bad public policy to bond or restructure or borrow money to pay for current expenses. The Senate crafted a financially responsible budget that reflects what every family in the commonwealth has had to face during the last several years – less money. We needed to decide what was necessary as opposed to what would be nice to have. People decide between paying their mortgage or going on vacation, paying their utility bill or going to the movies. While the Senate budget provides for social services, education, public safety, and necessary infrastructure, we are mindful that we cannot afford some things that, while nice or even beneficial to have, are not ultimately critical. Of course, as the nation's and our economies improve, we will continue to evaluate and review our revenues relative to our needs.

The Senate passed Senate Bill 5, a bill I sponsored to change the position of attorney general from partisan to nonpartisan and to provide for elections that are similar to those for Judges. I strongly believe that as an officer of the court and as the chief law enforcement officer of the state, the attorney general should be completely independent. This bill is not a criticism of past or present attorneys general. In fact, the timing of this bill will not impact the current attorney general since he is term-limited and cannot run again. The powers of a prosecutor are extraordinary and should never be clouded by political motivation. Justice should be blind to everything, including political party.

The Senate also passed several other bills to lay the groundwork for a prosperous future. If you ask business-owners what kinds of things the government can do to help them, one of their top answers will be to tell government to get out of the way. Senate Bill 4 applies a moratorium on administrative regulations as the governor determines which regulations to keep in place, amended, or repealed altogether. The Governor can then reissue the regulations he deems important and these will go through the usual legislative review. The purpose of SB 4 is to rein in what many feel is out-of-control red-tape. We need to look at these regulations with fresh eyes and make sure they still have a constructive purpose.

By now, it is common knowledge that math and science skills are important to students as they prepare for either a vocational track or college and future jobs. Senate Bill 11 will provide financial incentives to teachers, based on student achievement on Advanced Placement (AP) or International Baccalaureate (IB) tests in advanced science and mathematics. AdvanceKentucky, a private-public educational partnership, has similar programs in many of our public high schools and has experienced wild success as students score well enough to obtain college credit, saving both them and their parents' money. In 2010, AdvanceKentucky high schools represented a 53% increase in math/science/English AP qualifying scores (3 or above) above 2009. Qualifying scores among low-income students went up 109%. This is an investment in our future.

We also must continue to be conservative and frugal with the state funds (your tax-dollars) we do have. Senate Bill 118 will require all applicants for public benefits to either present a legitimate document verifying United States citizenship or submitting an affidavit verifying legal residency here. This is actually what the federal government requires. As the state struggles to meet the needs of those who really need help, it is important that we ensure that they go to folks who are legally entitled to them.

We also passed House Bill 390 in an effort to decrease the theft of copper by preventing cash payments by metal recyclers and instead requiring them to mail checks the day after the sale.

Finally, the Senate passed Senate Bill 134 that would facilitate returning military who have a HVAC specialty to obtain certification in Kentucky. SB 134 allows a current or former member of the United States Armed Forces to qualify for a journeyman license if he or she has been trained as a journeyman by the military and actively served in that occupation during his or her military service. We are grateful to the men and women who serve and it is not just to make their transition back to civilian life more difficult.

Next week, as a member of Senate leadership, I will be serving on the conference committee along with other Senate and House leaders to hammer out differences in our budget proposals. The Senate will also be voting on the state's road plan.

Legislative perspective on Kentucky General Assembly

STATE REP. TOM MCKEE

During legislative sessions in even-numbered years, the last flurry of bills to be voted on is almost always tied to state government's budget. This year promises to be no exception to that trend, and if all goes as scheduled, the General Assembly will cast these votes by Friday. After that, all that will remain is one day set aside to consider any vetoes Governor Beshear might issue; this year, my colleagues and I will return to the Capitol on April 12th.

As we wait for House and Senate leaders to come up with a comprise plan on the budget, numerous other issues have either been resolved or soon will be.

For victims of the March 2nd tornadoes, that includes a measure passing the House on Thursday that has the support of Senate leadership as well. This bill, which I co-sponsored, proposes to give a three-year sales tax exemption for building materials bought by communities rebuilding what was lost or damaged. It would apply to the 21 counties declared disaster areas by the federal government, which includes Pendleton and Campbell counties.

Assuming this becomes law, those taking advantage of it would have to rebuild in the county where the damage took place, and they would get their rebate back after submitting proper documentation to the state's Department of Revenue.

Attorney William Everett "Big Bill" Johnson turns 80

By: Kay Harrod

William Everett Johnson, hailed as one of the nation's best trial lawyers, reached a birthday milestone today. He's 80. But at Falmouth High School he was a pitcher and dreamed of being a baseball player – until he read three books. Johnson was living in Pendleton County when he read "The Great Mouthpiece" by William Fallon, a New York trial lawyer; "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" by Mark Twain and the Earl Stanley Gardner series that created the legendary Perry Mason. "I was working in tobacco and hay fields, and I knew there had to be something to take me from that work, those books convinced me I wanted to be a lawyer," Johnson said.

He headed to what was then Eastern Kentucky State College for legal studies for two years until he was called to the military. With an ROTC commission as second lieutenant, he served two years in the Army, traveling to posts in Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Rucker, Ala. Johnson says his two-year stint at regimental headquarters as an assistant adjutant general solidified his plans. "There was no more field work."

But he may be one of the few practicing attorneys who never graduated from college. "I went back to Eastern, but I heard veterans could enter law school at the University of Kentucky without completing an undergraduate degree. By then I had responsibilities – a wife and a baby and I knew I had to get on with my career."

Jacqueline Ritter from Richmond met Bill Johnson in the grill on Eastern's campus. She was studying to be a teacher. The couple has two children, Jeff and Jennifer, and three grandchildren. Asked him to dance, "I believe I asked him to dance, after all he was terribly good looking – tall, thin, blond hair and blue eyes," Jackie Johnson said. According partment of Revenue.

This bill also would ensure that schools and their staffs affected by the storms do not lose any state funding as a result of the schools being closed for a few days. It would be unfair for them to be docked money because of something beyond their control.

In other action in the House last week, an important bill for cattle farmers finished its legislative journey on Wednesday. It calls for more oversight of stockyards and buying stations, in an effort to make sure that farmers can be better assured they will get paid.

This issue arose in the wake of the Eastern Livestock bankruptcy case that began in 2010, which unfortunately caused farmers and stockyards alike in Kentucky and other states to lose tens of millions of dollars. Although this bill originated in the Senate, I was proud to be its advocate in the House.

A bill that I am sponsoring is also nearing the end of its legislative journey. House Bill 256, which is expected to pass the Senate this week, would lay the groundwork for a memorial dedicated to those brave Kentucky soldiers who lost their lives fighting in Iraq or Afghanistan. The list now stands at 110, which includes the six Kentuckians who died in the early 1990s in Operation Desert Storm. We should have a clear idea of what this memorial will look like, and where it will be located, by the end of the year.

Several other noteworthy measures have also made it through the General Assembly. They would do such things as establish an adoption assistance program to Jackie, their first official date was to a Valentine's dance shortly thereafter. They were married in 1954 and will celebrate 55 years together, Dec. 23.

The Louisville lawyer, who practices with Stoll, Kennan and Ogden, ticks off the qualifications of requirements established by the Board of Regents of the American College of Trial Lawyers.

"High ethical and moral standards, professionalism and excellent character are indispensable attributes of a Fellow. Bill encompasses every one of those," says Louisville attorney Jack Ballantine. "Bill is just both a fantastic man and lawyer."

Ballantine says Johnson's work on the Board of Governors of the Kentucky Bar Association where he defended lawyers in disciplinary cases was another opportunity for him to witness Johnson practicing his craft.

"Again he was totally prepared and dedicated to his cause. He represented the attorneys as though he were in an ordinary courtroom." The Louisville attorney says those disciplinary hearings come with high stakes because the board makes its recommendations to the Supreme Court. "The defendant lawyer could be disbarred or found not in violation, but the one thing I know about Bill is he will never be disciplined for not telling the truth. "You can take his word to the bank." Johnson seems to have more than one alias. In Frankfort, he is affectionately known as "Big Bill." He says the name originally started when the late Frankfort attorney Marion Rider called him "long legged" Johnson. "From there the name migrated and I believe it was Judge Henry Meigs who first called me 'Big Bill.'" Johnson began his practice in Frankfort with the late John Darnell. "John was a fine lawyer and well respected in Frankfort. I had the privilege to know some of the for those serving in the National Guard and put a veterans designation on drivers licenses for those who qualify.

Two other bills making it through the House last week center on domestic violence. One would add dating couples to the groups eligible to apply for domestic violence orders – Kentucky is one of just four states that doesn't include them – while the other would let courts have more jurisdiction over the care of pets in domestic violence cases. Many victims worry about the care of their animal companions, so this would hopefully ease their mind.

The House also approved a bill that would include Kentucky among the states with a false claims act. About half of them have this legislation, as does the federal government. Essentially, it rewards whistleblowers who discover fraud involving state tax dollars and puts significant penalties on those found guilty of this crime. This legislation has netted governments more than $25 billion since 1986, so it only makes sense for Kentucky to have this as well. It could mean millions of dollars more for other needed programs.

While the legislative session is almost over, it is not too late to let me know your views on these or other issues. My address is Room 332B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601. You can also leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

I hope to hear from you soon.

finest lawyers here. Some were giants."

Johnson, though he's far older than most practicing attorneys in Frankfort, has no plans of retiring. "I love the law. I like to play golf, but I am not a good golfer, but I am terribly competitive so I don't play much. Johnson says the law is still his passion and he plans to continue his practice which has become both avocation and vocation.

A partner of 30 years in the firm of Johnson, True, Guarnieri and Ayer, Guthrie True says three things make Johnson the lawyer he is. "His integrity would be first, because in the practice of law credibility is your most important asset. "His preparedness. No one will ever outwork him. He has demonstrated time after time the value of this. He is both a master of the law and the facts of his cases. "Lastly, the ability to simplify. Bill has a masterful ability to take complicated facts and pare them down so they can be easily understood," True said. "Bill is a hard, dedicated worker. He sets the example of time, commitment and attention to detail that it takes to be a trial lawyer."

Conway announces availability of child sexual abuse prevention grant

Attorney General Jack Conway today announced the availability of the Child Victims' Trust Fund's (CVTF) Regional Prevention Grant, which provides funding for regional sexual abuse prevention programs and projects to educate citizens about this horrendous crime.

"The consequences of child sexual abuse are significant and can last a lifetime," said General Conway, who chairs the Child Sexual Abuse and Exploitation Prevention Board. "This grant helps ensure that citizens across the Commonwealth know how to protect our children and that our children are armed with knowledge to combat sexual abuse."

Nationally, rates regarding child victims of rape or sexual assault range from 1.2 to 1.9 children per 1,000. There were 3,166 investigations of child sexual abuse in Kentucky in 2010, according to statistics from Kentucky Youth Advocates' Kids Count report. Approximately one-third of all sexual assaults reported to law enforcement involved a victim under the age of 12 and it's estimated that only one in 10 victims of sexual abuse ever discloses the abuse. There is also strong evidence that this horrific crime is directly tied to the growth of pornography on the Internet.

"My investigators work every day to make the Internet a safer place for Kentucky kids," General Conway said. "Since its creation in 2008, my Cybercrimes Unit has launched more than 250 child porn investigations and seized more than 300,000 child pornographic images and videos from the Internet."

Revenue for the prevention grant comes from proceeds of the "I Care About Kids" special license plate, the Kentucky Income Tax Refund Check-Off and private donations.

The registration deadline for the child sexual abuse prevention grant is Monday, April 2, 2012. For additional information or a grant application form, go to <http://ag.ky.gov/criminal/victims/cvtf/> or call (800) 372-2551 or (502) 696-5312.

Food benefits still available for residents

The Cabinet for Health and Family Services (CHFS) reminds Kentuckians living and working in areas affected by recent tornadoes and severe weather that they may still apply for federal disaster food benefits this week.

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), is providing resources to purchase food for residents of 21 counties that are part of a federal disaster declaration from the February 29 and March 2 storms. People who work in these counties and have lost income may also apply.

SNAP is formerly known as food stamps. CHFS's Department of Community Based Services administers the program in all 120 Kentucky counties. The 21 counties eligible for federal disaster food benefits are Bath, Campbell, Carroll, Grant, Grayson, Johnson, Kenton, Larue, Laurel, Lawrence, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Ohio, Pendleton, Rowan, Russell, Trimble and Wolfe.

DCBS Acting Commissioner Teresa James said that the federal SNAP assistance is available to help Kentuckians coping with loss.

"We want to make sure the word is getting out about these benefits," James said. "We know people have been busy settling into temporary shelters and recovering what they can. But it's important for those who qualify to apply for and take advantage of these benefits."

CURRENT FOOD BENEFITS CUSTOMERS
Households in the affected counties that are currently receiving SNAP and report a loss of food or incur other losses because of the storms may receive additional food benefits. Household members should contact their local DCBS offices, which are listed below.

 - Disaster-related expenses not expected to be reimbursed in March;
 - A reduction, termination or delay in receiving income; or
 - No access to liquid financial assets, such as checking or savings accounts.

The household's income and accessible resources received in the month of the disaster will be counted in determining eligibility for the food benefits. These are one-time benefits based on the household's size.

HOW TO APPLY
Applicants must bring proper personal identification and verification of residency. It is also recommended, if possible, that applicants bring proof of Social Security numbers for all household members; take home pay and income received in the month the disaster caused losses; accessible resources like savings and checking accounts and cash on hand; and statements to verify disaster-related expenses.

History of the American Red Cross

Clara Barton and a circle of acquaintances founded the American Red Cross in Washington, D.C. on May 21, 1881. Barton first heard of the Swiss-inspired International Red Cross movement while visiting Europe following the Civil War. Returning home, she campaigned for an American Red Cross society and for ratification of the Geneva Convention protecting the war-injured, which the United States ratified in 1882.

Barton headed the Red Cross for 23 years, during which time it conducted its first domestic and overseas disaster relief efforts, aided the United States military during the Spanish-American War, and campaigned successfully for the inclusion of peacetime relief work as part of the International Red Cross Movement-the-so-called "American Amendment" that initially met with some resistance in Europe.

The Red Cross received its first congressional charter in 1900 and a second in 1905, the year after Barton resigned from the organization. This charter-which remains in effect today-sets forth the purposes of the organization that include giving relief to and serving as a medium of communication between members of the American armed forces and their families and providing national and international disaster relief and mitigation.

Prior to the First World War, the Red Cross introduced its first aid, water safety, and public health nursing programs. With the outbreak of war, the organization experienced phenomenal growth. The number of local chapters jumped from 107 in 1914 to 3,864 in 1918 and membership grew from 17,000 to more than 20 million adult and 11 million Junior Red Cross members. The public contributed $400 million in funds and material to support Red Cross programs, including those for American and Allied forces and civilian refugees. The Red Cross staffed hospitals and ambulance companies and recruited 20,000 registered nurses to serve the military. Additional Red Cross nurses came forward to combat the worldwide influenza epidemic of 1918.

After World War II, the Red Cross introduced the first nationwide civilian blood program that now supplies nearly 50 percent of the blood and blood products in this country. During the 1990s, it engineered a massive modernization of its blood services operations to improved the safety of its blood products. It continued to provide services to members of the armed forces and their families, including during the Korean, Vietnam, and Gulf wars. The Red Cross also expanded its services into such fields as civil defense, CPR/AED training, HIV/AIDS education, and the provision of emotional care and support to disaster victims and their survivors. It helped the federal government form the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and serves as its principal supplier of mass care in federally declared disaster.

While closely associated with the federal government in the promotion of its objectives, the Red Cross is an independent, volunteer-led organization, financially supported by voluntary public contributions and cost-reimbursement charges. A 50-member, all volunteer Board of Governors leads the organization. The president of the United States, who is honorary chairman of the Red Cross, appoints eight governors, including the chairman of the board. The chairman nominates and the board elects the president of the Red Cross who is responsible for carrying into effect the policies and programs of the board. The American Red Cross works closely with the International Committee of the Red Cross on matters of international conflict and social, political, and military unrest. As a member of the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, which it helped found in 1919, the American Red Cross joins more that 175 other national societies in bringing aid to victims of disasters throughout the world.

Kentucky women that made their mark in the political arena

Kentucky was slow in granting women the right to vote, but this didn't keep women from being elected to public office. In 1889, there were four women elected to the position of county school superintendent, eight in 1893, and 18 in 1897 with state level offices to come. Since 1920, when Kentucky women finally gained the right to vote, they have been prominent in government.

Mary Elliott Flanery (1867-1933), of Carter County, was elected in 1921 to the Kentucky House of Representatives and is best known as the first woman elected to a state legislature south of the Mason Dixon Line. She was following in the footsteps of her grandfather who had also served as state senator. "I can hold my own with the boys when I get to Frankfor," said Flanery when she was elected. As an legislator, Flanery continued her advocacy for women's rights. She urged her colleagues to change legislation about marriage and divorce, and to implement the federal Shepard-Towner Maternity Act, a progressive era program that provided medical care to pregnant women and their children. She began her professional life as a teacher in Elliott and Carter counties and, in 1904, became a correspondent with the Ashland Daily Independent. Flanery was a suffragist, working with other Kentucky Equal Rights Association members. She was revered as a pioneer in public service.

The first woman to be selected to a statewide office, that of state librarian in 1896, was Emma Guy Cromwell (1869-1952) and from that day forward her goals were to increase women's involvement in politics. In 1923 she won the Democratic nomination for secretary of state and credited much of her success in being elected to support from Kentucky women. While in office she became the first woman to serve as acting governor during the absence of both the governor and the lieutenant governor, another first for a woman in the commonwealth. She later wrote of this time, "We were not so well versed in politics as we are now, else we might have used this incident to promote the advanced sphere of womanhood in the state." In 1927 she became state treasurer. Her insistence that all bankholding state funds be fully bonded drew severe criticism, but later kept Kentucky's money safe during the Depression. Cromwell was appointed Kentucky state park director in 1932 and in 1937 she was named state librarian and director of archives. Through the respect she achieved in a "man's world," she opened the way for other women in Kentucky politics.

Another woman active in advancing the status of women in Kentucky was Thelma Stovall (1919-1994), the first female lieutenant governor in 1975. She was elected secretary of the Tobacco Workers International Union, Local 185 early in her career and held that position for 11 years. A woman of many firsts, Stovall was the first woman to hold elective political office from

THELMA STOVALL

Jefferson County, being elected state representative from the 38th legislative district for three terms, secretary of state for three terms and that of state treasurer for two terms. That fact that she held so many different positions in Kentucky politics really shows that she was not only focused on one subject dealing with the rights of women, but that she wanted to improve all aspects of the subject as she possibly could.

Kentucky's first woman governor, Martha Layne Collins (1936-) grew up in Bagdad and began in politics through volunteering for Wendell Ford. With years of experience at helping others in their campaigns, Collins decided it was time to step forward. In 1975, she was elected to the position of supreme court clerk, then in 1979 she was elected lieutenant governor and four years later won the race for governor. Her administration was focused heavily on improving the lives of Kentuckians through economic development and education issues. Her efforts resulted in a $300 million school improvement package and a new Toyota automobile plant in Georgetown. Ten years later Toyota chose Kentucky as the home of its North American headquarters. Near the end of Collins' term, the state commerce cabinet reported that 25 automotive-related manufacturing plants had been constructed in 17 counties since the Toyota announcement. The state experienced record job growth under Collins' economic development plan, which included attempts to attract both domestics and international companies. The state's unemployment rate fell from 9.7 percent in October 1983 to 7.2 percent in October 1987; according to the administration's own figures, they created a net increase of 73,000 jobs in the state during Collins' tenure. After leaving the governor's office, Collins served as president of St. Catharine College for six years, as the Executive-in-Residence at the University of Louisville's School of Business, as the director of the International Business and Management Center at the University of Kentucky's Carol Martin Gatton College of Business and Economics and as an Executive Scholar in Residence at Georgetown College, along with serving on several national boards.

Mr. Matt Record (Dickie V.) and Principal Darell Pugh (Coach Cal) presented a skit giving a commentary about how the players were not "reading the rules," practicing their skills or "listening to the coach."

The basketball players began to perform their game MUCH

Over 15,000 minutes were spent reading that day! Funding for these events was made possible by the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service and the North Family Resource Center.

PCHS tennis teams ready for season

By Bruce Reller, Jr., Reporter

The Pendleton County High School tennis team is prepared to begin their season this week. They will begin with a few home games this coming week.

Pendleton County head coach Celeste Lehr is ready to lead her team into another tennis season. She hopes for another successful year.

"I have a lot of new players this year, so my biggest goal is for them to all feel prepared for their first match," Lehr said. "Another goal I have is for every player to improve by the end of the season."

Some of the key girls' tennis players on the team are Kristen Stewart, Brittany Teegarden, Paige Antrobus, Michelle Franz, Jessica White, and Hailey McKinney.

As for the boys' tennis players, Eli Stahl, Max Dewald, Gabe Antrobus, Blake Scott, and Jared

Cox are key players for this year's team.

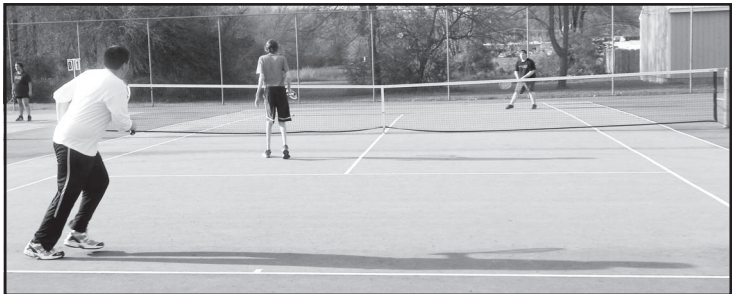

Pendleton County plays a number of teams on their schedule. According to Lehr, their toughest teams are Highlands, Campbell County, Clark County, and Bourbon County.

If PC wants to do well in the upcoming season and go far in the Regional Tournament, they will need to practice and try to get better throughout the year.

"My top players who will compete in Regionals this year will simply need to practice hard, improve in strategy, and be confident in order to do well in the tournament," Lehr explained.

The Cats opened up their season with a home game yesterday against Bracken County. The girls' tennis players will host Kenton County today. Also, Pendleton County will host Harrison County this Thursday.

By Bruce Reller, Jr., Reporter

The Pendleton County High School tennis team has gotten off to a fast start. They defeated Bracken County and Harrison County at home last week.

"I am very impressed with the team so far," Pendleton County head coach Celeste Lehr said about her team's fast start out of the gate.

The Cats first took on Bracken County last Monday, March 19. Jessica White, Gabe Antrobus, Blake Scott, and Jared Cox all won their singles matches 6-0. Also, Hailey McKinney won her singles match 6-1.

As for doubles, Kristen Stewart and Brittany Teegarden won 6-0, Becka Hiert and Kendall Roseberry were 6-1 winners, and Joe Donahue and Sean Flynn won in convincing fashion 6-1.

Also, Eli Stahl and Max Dewald won their doubles match

6-2 and Kelli Smith and Michelle Franz held off their opponents in doubles 6-3.

PC next took on Harrison County last Thursday, March 22. Again, the Cats looked pretty unstoppable and pulled off their second straight victory.

"I have some good athletes who came out this year, and I am enjoying seeing them improve," Lehr said about her tennis players.

Roseberry and Stahl won their singles matches against Harrison County 6-0, Paige Antrobus and White were 6-1 victors, and McKinney won in singles 6-3. Also, Cox came from behind to win his singles match in a very close contest.

As for doubles, Flynn and Donahue easily won their competition 6-0, and Stahl and Dewald

Pendleton County Wildcats baseball team pick up first victory

The Wildcats and the Blue Lightning were able to sneak in enough innings for an official game before it was called for, ironically, lightning. While the Cats led 5-0 at the time, the score had to revert to the last full inning played, so the game goes down as a 3-0 victory for the Cats. The first of the season bringing their record to 1-1 after three weeks of the season.

Senior Brent Jacobs got the complete game victory as he held Villa scoreless over five innings including striking out the side in the 2nd.

Offensively, Austin Pyles scored the first run of the season as the Cats loaded the bases. Brady Purdy worked a walk and forced Austin Reed home to put the Cats up 2-0. Tyler Daugherty came home to finish off the scoring in the 2nd inning. The Cats and Villa would hold each other scoreless till the top of the 6th.

The Junior combo of Austin Pyles and Brady Purdy got the Cats Machine started again. Austin led off with a double and Brady Purdy laid down a bunt that the Blue Lightning treated like a 1920's Keystone Cops movie. Austin would score and Brady would end up on third. Dustin Warner struck a double that brought Brady home to finish off the scoring at 5-0. Unfortunately, the doubles by Austin and Dustin will be erased in the stats as the lightning stopped the game before the 6th inning could be completed.

With the wet start of the season, the Cats have lost five varsity games to wet conditions on the field and five Junior Varsity games. But despite the cancellations, that is right in step with the rest of the region as the most games played in the region is four by two teams. Most teams have played either two or three games.

The JV Cats were able to play a partial double header against Harrison County on Wednesday, March 20th. The first game was completed with a 6-1 victory for the Cats but Harrison held on, 2-1, in the darkness-shortened second game after only two innings.

Freshmen Jonah Smith started the first game on the mound and after a rough first inning, he settled down and picked up the forty-inning complete game victory.

Weather had prevented the pitchers from getting to throw from their new home pitching mound and each pitcher has struggled in their first inning. Jonah was no different as he gave up the only run in the first inning, walked the first batter and another in the first inning. Good defense got him out of a bases loaded jam with minimal damage.

The offense responded with three runs in the bottom of the first to give the Cats the lead they wouldn't relinquish. Josh Brown walked to start the rally, Mack Ramsey reached on an error and Tanner Mains walked to load the bases. A grounder to short allowed Josh to score and Jacob Partin got the RBI.

Jacob stole 2nd and on the throw down, Mack stole home to give the Cats the lead at 2-1.

The Cats continued to put pressure on Harrison County as Jacob stole 3rd. The Harrison pitcher struggled with the pressure the Cats were putting on the bases and walked Brandon Coffey. A wild pitch allowed Jacob to slide head first across home plate and Brandon advanced to third on another wild pitch.

Jonah calmed down and retired

seven batters in a row before walking a batter in the 3rd. After striking out the last batter of the 3rd, the final two innings went without much excitement from the Breds, as the defense made the plays.

In the second game, Lefty Freshmen Hunter Lea continued the streak of Pendleton pitchers having a rough 1st inning as the Breds played two runs. In the second, though, he settled down and got Harrison County 1-2-3.

PC made the rally in the 2nd and came one out from taking the lead in the last inning of the darkened shortened game.

Spencer Bay led the inning off with a walk and after two outs, Harrison County walked the next three batters to force the run in and keep the bases loaded. Back-to-back strikeouts ended the rally and the game with the Cats trailing 2-1.

The Cats hosted Harrison County last night in a Varsity/JV double-header. Results were not available at press time.

Tonight the district game v Deming that was rained out last week as been rescheduled. Varsity game at 5:30 p.m. with JV to follow.

The Varsity travels to Bellevue on Wednesday and the Cats host Montgomery County on Friday night. Varsity first pitch at 5:15 p.m. with JV to follow. On Saturday, the Varsity Cats host St. Henry in a single game scheduled to start at noon.

Pendleton Ladycats drop pair to open 2012 softball season

By: Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Pendleton County Ladycats softball team opened its 2012 campaign last week and came up short in a pair of games, falling to Brossart in the home opener, and to Williamstown on the road.

Last Tuesday, the 'Cats were drubbed at home by the Mustangs 18-0 in a game that was called after three innings. The team then traveled to Williamstown the next day to take on the Lady Demons and were defeated 14-9 in six innings.

This week, the Ladycats have four scheduled games. The team hosted Holmes last night (results weren't available at press time), and tonight they travel to Montgomery County for a 6pm matchup. On Thursday, the 'Cats travel north to face Newport at 5:30pm and will conclude the week back at home on Friday with a 5:30pm contest with Bourbon County.

The Ladycats open the 2012 season after 2 rain outs in Race-land, KY. The Ladycats played hard but lost 15 to 0. Then on 19th of March Nicholas County came to Falmouth. Again the girl played hard and manage a few hits with some great defensive. However we could not push across a run. Nicholas County walked away with a 13 to 0 win. Before we could regroup Bishop Brossart stormed into town and walked out with a 18-0 win.

The next night was a different story as the Ladycats traveled to Williamstown. The girls played outstanding and performed as a team should. It was a hard fought game. Outstanding play by all of the girls.

With the game going into the bottom of the 6th inning Williamstown score five runs to win the game 14 to 9. Upcoming games for this week.

 Message: Esther 7:1-2 Be careful what you build, it may be used on you.
 Always be on call for God in singing, assisting the unsaved, and in prayers.
 Being saved we are the family of royalty, God's family. We need to harvest the unsaved. Everyone has a right to live for Christ. Let God change our hearts.
 The lion of Satan can never roar unless he captures his prey. Stand up for God and He will cause us to be victorious. If you want joy, put Jesus first, others seconds, and ourselves last.
 Jesus has a set calendar date when the second coming is, that only He knows.
 Are you saved? Is Jesus Christ sitting on the throne of you life.
BUTLER BAPTIST
 Gallations II was the basis of Brother Daryl's sermon. We are suppose to speak the truth in love. In order to do this we must not use double standards. We cannot say one thing and do another. We must live by the truth of the gospel. We are justified by faith alone and not by our works. When we believe in Jesus we become righteous in the eyes of God. When someone looks at us they should see Jesus in all we say and do. When someone looks at your life, who do they see? Do they see Jesus? If you need assistance from FEMA they are set up in the church fellowship hall Monday through Saturday.

at outward appearances but God looks at our heart. We are known by the life the world know us by, but the life our friends know us by, by the life our family knows us by, the life our church knows us by and the life God knows us by. We need to remember that there is no condemnation for those of us in Christ Jesus, but our conduct should always be pure and right as children of God.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN
 Brother Rick Halcomb delivered the message "Are You Ready For His arrival?" The scripture was from the book of Revelation 19:11-21 and Revelation 21:1-8.
 As you read the scripture, prepare yourself so that you know you are ready for Jesus's arrival.
 Our special music was brought to us by Brenda Abercrombie. She is a member and the music director of the Falmouth Christian Church. Brenda sang, "I can't make it Lord without You" and "I want to know how it feels." We are truly blessed to have her with us.
 Please pray for everyone that have lost their home from the tornado, the sick, the lost, the families who have lost a loved one, those in nursing homes, hospitals and our military.
 If you are looking for a church home, come join us.
 God is always here. Sunday school starts at 9:45 a.m. and worship service at 10:45 a.m.

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN
 March Madness! Concerning the luck of the teams within the tournament, the teams that are playing with the number one seed against the 16 seeded teams, they are 108-0 and only 11 times have they won by just a single digit margin, with the last time being in 1997. Needless to say, 16 don't seem to be getting any closer to that elusive first victory.
 There is a possibility that a 16 seed may some day defeat a 1 seed. Maybe there is a chosen team. There may be a 16 seed destined to overcome this fate.
 Some day it may happen. The odds do not look good though. It is pretty safe to say that it will be very difficult to envision this possibility with the current tournament seeding system.

So how does this relate to a church topic? Here is the question throughout history, what other person could have given his life for the sins of all man kind in such a willing manner as the Son of God? Jesus Christ did! Just as a 16 seed may one day break the streak of never defeating a 1 seed, Jesus came and did what never happened before. Let us realize how He did what no one else did before Him, and what no one else could ever do after Him. Let us give Him all the praise!
 -Pastor Wes Shoemaker

HARVEST COMMUNITY
 It is tempting to hit the snooze when the alarm goes off in the morning. We savor those last few moments of sleep as we resist beginning another workday.
 Proverbs warns against giving in to the temptation of laziness, of sleeping instead of working. This does not mean we should never rest. God gave the Sabbath as a weekly day of rest. If laziness turns us from our responsibilities, poverty may soon bar us from the legitimate rest we should enjoy.
 The ladies will be enjoying a Bible study, "The woman in Me," beginning at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, April 3 led by Karen Hyden.
 Prayer concerns are Margo Gibson, Isabella O'Hara, Randi Rering, Michelle Caldwell, Jaime Storer and the family of Irene Caldwell.

MT. GILEAD
 Spring must be here, Mt. Gilead is opening service at 2:15 p.m. on Good Friday, April 6 with a "Kneel at the Cross" Service.
 What a wonderful time to spend a few minutes, kneeling before a cross. The few precious moments one can totally give of oneself to serve Jesus Christ.
 Service opens at 2:15 p.m. with prayer, scripture and explanation of what to expect. Each person has a choice of kneeling at the cross inside or outside before the old cross.
 At 2:45 p.m. we will move to the crosses and hopefully all will be totally involved by 3 p.m., the time Jesus died on the cross.

Finally we will gather in the old church building and discuss our feeling or thoughts of the time spent at the cross. Hot coffee, tea and/or hot chocolate will complete the service.
 Come start the Easter season off with remembering Jesus' death. Amen.
MT. MORIAH
 Everyone enjoyed having Dave Shipp with us for our morning worship service on Sunday, March 18.

 Snowden Isaiah McKinnon (BD '53) was the first African American to graduate from Louisville Seminary, and Dora Pierce (BD '61) was the first women to complete her degree. Methodist Episcopal Church, who reflects on some of my questions about being a woman serving in ministry. Blazing New Territory. By Bishop Teresa E. Snorton.
 What have you found to be the most challenging aspect of being (a woman) in ministry?
 I entered ministry in the late 1970s when there were few women in formal ministry in the Christian Methodist Episcopal (CME) denomination. This was compounded by my decision to attend seminary, which few men, let alone women did in my home conference, the Kentucky Conference of the CME Church.
 It was a personal challenge to discover who my role models would be. Most of my mentors turned out to be males who had a commitment to inclusivity in ministry.

I am grateful to clergy women like Johanna Bos at Louisville Seminary and Jacqueline Grant at the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta who wrote and taught about feminist and womanist theology, thus helping me find my voice and identity as a woman in ministry.
 I continue to find it challenging to balance family and ministry, since as a woman I have always maintained the traditional roles of mother, nurturer, cook, housekeeper, etc., along with ministry. My perception is that male clergy often get "excused" from certain family expectations because of their ministry vocation.
 What has surprised you the most about being (a woman) in ministry?
 When I first entered the ministry, I was surprised by the resistance of some to the concept of women in ministry. I did not understand how they could profess a belief in a loving, liberating God/Jesus, yet still discriminate against women.
 Some 35 years later, I am still surprised by the resistance to women in ministry in some geographical areas and faith traditions. In the black church, I am struck by the irony of those who did not want to be discriminated because of their race/color (which was said to be a God-determined fact) yet who subsequently discriminate against some because of their gender (another God-determined fact). The dogmatic use of scripture to justify these positions continues to puzzle me, perhaps because I have a dynamic, trans formative view of theology and God's work in creation.
 What have you found especially gratifying about being (a woman) in ministry?
 I am especially gratified to blaze new territory, especially as the first female Bishop in my denomination. Rather than see myself as a token woman in many places, I see the opportunity to introduce a new relational approach to ministry that is directly connected to my feminist/womanist theology. I love to invite people to see themselves beyond where the world and even they can sometimes imagine, using my own story as an illustration.

Prayer concerns include Ann Bettison, Dixie Wells, Zelma King, Ronnie King, Michelle Caldwell, Margaret McCann, JoEllen Kearns, shut-ins, and cancer concerns.
ROANOKE
 Bro. Don's message Sunday taken from the fourth chapter of II Timothy titled, "No need to stand alone." No matter how many people we surround ourselves with at times we still feel as if we are alone. Real faith is a total reliance on the Lord and when we feel as if we are alone during our troubles of life we need to remember that there is one who stands beside us and if we look to him for guidance he will give us the strength to get us through the tough times.
 Please remember those who have experienced loss in the storms over the past few weeks and those who have lost family members, those who are ill and those who are experiencing a difficult time in their life in your prayers and thought. Join us each Sunday for worship service at 11 a.m. Sunday school at 10 a.m.

SOUTHSIDE
 Never yield to weariness of the spirit. At times like this, carry on and soon the spirit will become strong again. God's Spirit is always with you, to replenish and renew. None ever sincerely sought God's help in vain.
 Physical weariness and exhaustion make a time of rest and communion with God more necessary. When you are overcome by temporary conditions which you cannot control, keep quiet and wait for the power of the spirit to flow back. Romans 8:26-27.
 Sunday school begins at 9 a.m. and worship service at 10 a.m.

TRINITY BAPTIST
 A free gift is awaiting those who have not yet accepted it... God's grace through Jesus. We discovered this truth through Romans 3:21-26. An eventful end to the month of March, between family game night, March 30 and men's work day and youth rally on March 31. As our men's and women's book studies are ending our fellowship isn't going to end. It is just beginning. Do you need to be uplifted during your busy week? Don't forget our weekly Wednesday night prayer meeting and Thursday afternoon prayer time from noon to 2 p.m. that is open to the whole community. Everybody is welcome in the house of the Lord. Make sure you join us at some of our many events and invite your friends so they can have an opportunity to accept their free gift.

BED BUG PREVENTION TIPS AT HOME AND WHILE TRAVELING

Prevention of bedbugs may be difficult but it is much easier than treatment of an infestation. By taking precautions to avoid them, individuals may be able to reduce their risk of bringing bedbugs into the home or workplace. Although they typically feed on blood every five to ten days, bed bugs can be quite resilient; they are capable of surviving over a year without feeding.

A few simple precautions can help prevent bed bug infestation: Use a protective cover that encases mattresses and box springs which eliminates many hiding spots. Be sure to purchase a high quality encasement that will resist tearing and check the encasements regularly for holes. Reduce clutter in your home to reduce hiding places for bed bugs. Do not store items under beds.

Travel Tips

Concerned travelers may want to get in the habit of checking their bed and room for signs of bed bugs. Examine the bed sheets and upper and lower seams of the mattress and box spring, especially along the head of the bed. Inspect the dresser drawers, inside closets, and along the baseboards. Check for dark spots which are bed bug excrement and may bleed on the fabric like a marker would. Eggs and eggshells, which are tiny (about 1mm) and white skins that nymphs shed as they grow larger. Live bed bugs. Rusty or reddish stains on bed sheets or mattresses. If bed bugs are discovered, request another room, preferably in another area of the building. Elevate suitcases off the floor on a luggage stand, tabletop or other hard surface.

erably in another area of the building. Elevate suitcases off the floor on a luggage stand, tabletop or other hard surface.

Upon returning home, unpack directly into a washing machine and inspect your luggage carefully.

Used Furniture and Apartment Living

Householders should be vigilant when acquiring furnishings, especially beds and couches. Curbside items should be avoided, and secondhand articles should be examined closely before being brought into the home, and perhaps laundered or placed in a dryer on high for 20 minutes or more. When new furniture is purchased ask if the delivery truck is also used for discarding old furniture. If so, make arrangements to pick up the items.

Avoiding problems with bed bugs is most challenging in apartments, hotels and other places where there are ongoing opportunities for the bugs to be introduced. Preventative inspection by tenants, housekeeping staff, or pest control firms is the best way to uncover infestations in their initial stages when they are easiest to control.

Visitors To Your Home

While infested homes have the potential to bring bed bugs into your home, so do other people. By taking a few precautions, homeowners may be able to avoid a bed bug problem. Be conscious of who visits the home and where they are coming from. Provide an area or storage container for visitors to store their belongings in. Inspect and clean the storage area and rooms immediately upon the guests departure. Ask that luggage and backpacks be kept off of carpeted areas and beds.

Public Places and Prevention

Public buildings such as schools, stores, and libraries may be a source of a bed bug population. With hundreds of people coming and going daily, it is almost impossible for facility managers to completely exterminate all bed bugs on a daily basis. To minimize the likelihood of taking a "hitchhiker" home, the following steps may help: Inspect backpacks in crevices and seams. Do not allow backpacks or handbags to be placed on carpets, beds, or upholstered furniture. Inspect books before bringing them home.

Limit cloth materials that are taken into a facility (i.e. blankets, stuffed animals). Immediately launder cloth items, (including newly purchased). Store shoes in white plastic tubs. Hang jackets on hangers away from others.

Summary

In conclusion, the incidence of bed bugs in the United States is increasing to the point where vigilance by all is a prudent practice. Understanding bed bug stages and familiarity can help to avoid infestation, or at least prompt earlier intervention by a professional.

30 KY COUNTIES ELIGIBLE FOR FSAEM

On March 9, 2012, President Obama amended disaster declaration M4057 to include seven Kentucky counties as disaster areas due to damages and losses occurred from February 29, 2012, through March 3, 2012. Those counties are Bath, Campbell, Carroll, Grant, Martin, Montgomery and Rowan.

As a result of the declaration, 23 Kentucky counties were named as contiguous counties where eligible family farmers may qualify for FSAEM loan assistance pursuant to Section 321 (a) of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act. Those counties are Boone, Bourbon, Carter, Clark, Elliott, Fleming, Floyd, Gallatin, Harrison, Henry, Johnson, Kenton, Lawrence, Lewis, Menifee, Morgan, Nicholas, Owen, Pendleton, Pike, Powell, Scott and Trimble.

EM loan applications for physical and production losses will be received through November 9, 2012 and applications pending on that date may be processed and completed.

Farmers interested in applying for assistance should contact their local FSA county office.

I am so glad that this job is done for another year. My hands still feel stiff and sore from all the cutting and slicing. We bought a meat slicer at an auction but it didn't work very well on slicing steaks. I ended up slicing a lot of the steaks with a knife and ended up putting a lot of whole steaks in the freezer. I think the slicer will work okay for ham or cheese but it is just not made to slice steaks.

Joe borrowed a meat saw to cut the T-bone steaks. He always likes to cook those out on the grill. A lot of hard work goes into cutting up a beef. The hamburger has to be cut into pieces to fit through the grinder. The beef chunks have to all be cut into little chunks. The bones have to be trimmed good to get all the meat off that we can. The bones with the most meat on we don't trim. I put those in the freezer and will put those into the pressure cooker one day. I will make beef stew with them. This week will we will wash all the canned hamburger and beef chunk jars and carry them to the canning shelf in the basement.

We still have enough room in the freezer if we want to butcher a hog yet. It has warmed up so much, though, that the weather may make it impossible to do that. Our family always looks forward to the Pon Hoss we usually make on hog-butcher day.

Yesterday my husband Joe was sick and unable to go to church. He is congested and has a bad head cold like I had a week before. Sure makes a person feel miserable.

Some of the children and I went to church, which was a few miles from here. Daughters Elizabeth and Susan attended church in another neighboring church district. Our afternoon visitors were Jacob, Emma and family and Joe's sister Carol, Pete and and Joe's brother Junior. The girls popped popcorn for everyone.

After our visitors left we made mashed potatoes, fried fresh steaks, steak gravy, along with cheese, homemade bread and cinnamon rolls for our supper.

Friday and Saturday the youth gave a program at the community building. They do one every year to raise funds for the building and also help a few families with their hospital expenses. With Joe not feeling well we were unable to go. The children were excited when our good friends Jim and Ruth offered to take them. Sounds like they all enjoyed the program. The youth will give the same program again this Friday and Saturday. Our plans are to attend one night if everyone is okay. Sounds like the building was really filled with people on Saturday evening. The youth spent hours practicing for this and are doing it for a good cause.

We are putting off doing our laundry today. Sounds like we might have some nice sunny days this week so we can dry the clothes outdoors.

I will share with you a recipe of my mothers. These are the cinnamon rolls she would always make.

Although I have tried different cinnamon roll recipes I always like hers the best. Mother always used Robin Hood flour for her breads and rolls. I do the same although Robin Hood flour can not be found in all stores anymore. I used to be able to buy it in town but can't find it any more. I buy mine in 25 pound bags at the Amish bulk food stores.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1-1/2 cups milk, scalded
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 2 packages of yeast

- 1/2 cup warm water
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 6 cups Robin Hood flour
- Brown sugar (to taste)
- Cinnamon (to taste)

FROSTING:

- 1 tablespoon water, 1 cup sifted vanilla extract

DIRECTIONS:

MOTHERS CINNAMON ROLLS

Scald milk in a saucepan and then pour into a large mixing bowl. Add salt, sugar, and margarine to the scalded milk. In separate bowl, add yeast to water and let stand 5 minutes. Then add to the milk mixture. Add beaten eggs and 3 cups of flour and mix. Add 3 more cups of flour and mix. More flour can be added if needed to make the dough elastic and easy to handle. Let rise until double. Divide dough into two and roll out and then spread with soft margarine or butter. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon (Editor's note: Lovina did not give amounts because this is really a matter of preference. She adds a layer of brown sugar and then a layer of lots of cinnamon, because she really likes cinnamon. Adjust these two ingredients to your preference). Roll up like you would a jelly roll and cut into 3/4 inch width. Put into light greased pie pan and let rise until almost level with the top of the pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

Emergency Conservation Program Announcement

Farms suffering damage due to severe storms, tornados and straight line winds may be eligible for assistance under the Emergency Conservation Program (ECP). Applications will be accepted by the Falmouth Farm Service Agency (FSA) beginning March 12, 2012 through May 11, 2012, for damages to farms that:

- Will be so costly to rehabilitate that Federal assistance is or will be needed to return the land to productive agricultural use
- Is unusual and is not the type that would recur frequently in the same area
- Affects the productive capacity of the farmland
- Will impair or endanger the land

A producer qualifying for ECP assistance may receive cost share levels not to exceed 75 percent of the eligible cost of restoration measures, unless you are a limited resource producer. No producer is eligible for more than $200,000 cost sharing per natural disaster occurrence. The following types of measures may be eligible:

- Removing debris from farmland
- Restoring permanent fences
- Restoring conservation structures and other similar installations

To be eligible for assistance, practices must exceed $2,500 in eligible damage and restoration not started until all of the following are met:

- An application for cost share assistance has been filed
- The local FSA County Committee (COC) or its representative has conducted an on site inspection of the damaged area.

If restoration measures have already begun prior to filing an application, the County Committee, with State Committee concurrence, may grant relief on a case by case basis.

Provide photographs of the damage which includes identifiable landmarks at the time of application. Keep documentation which supports expenses such as dates work is performed, the type of work performed, cost per hour for labor or equipment used. All receipts should provide information indicating the costs are associated with the eligible disaster event.

For more information please contact the Falmouth Farm Service Agency at 814 Highway 27 S., Falmouth, Ky. 41040. Phone: (859) 654-3374.

PCHS NJROTC cleans up Hogg Ridge Road March 17

The Pendleton County High School NJROTC unit took a total of 37 people on Saturday, March, 17,, including 21 cadets, three Eighth grade club members, and 13 friends and chaperones to Hogg Ridge Road, near the Grant County line. The group picked up trash along the six miles of Hogg Ridge Road and also cleaned up a major dump site. The dump site is a gully full of garbage that people threw trash into it and then the rain washed it down towards a nearby creek. The dump site was filled with items such as TVs, a bathtub, refrigerators, a toilet, tires, a couch, and bags of trash and diapers. A Hogg Ridge Road resident stated that "In all my years here, this looks better than it has ever looked! These kids are doing a terrific job." After five hours of hard labor everyone went to Becky Donahue's home and had pizza and sodas. The cadets and chaperones worked very hard picking up 49 trash bags along the six mile road and 65 bags out of the dump site.

Northern students displaying artwork in New York City

This painting is called "Friends"

Isabella describes her painting, titled Friends, as "my favorite piece of artwork yet. I chose to draw my friend and I at the mall because one day we will be there shopping together. My favorite part of this painting is adding the details like the long hair and dangling earrings. My art teacher had me draw first using a pencil. Then I traced over it with a permanent marker. After that I painted it. If I would do this painting over, I would do nothing different. I love it just the way it is! I was so surprised how good it looked at the end! Art is my world and I have my art teacher to thank that!"

Donation from the heart of a child

So very often, we only hear about the negative behaviors of our youth. Today, I would like to tell you about an outstanding act of kindness and compassion by a six year old student in my class. This student's name is Gabe Gilbert.

Once a year, our school participates in a program call "Pennies for Patients". Our students are asked to contribute toward a fund to help children suffering from cancer. The money they raise goes toward research to help save the lives of those children. Little boxes are given to each child and for the next few weeks, they bring in as much money as they can by asking neighbors and family members to give.

After a couple of days, Gabe came in with his box completely full. He emptied it and took his container back home. The next day to my surprise, he came in with another box just as full as the last. This may not seem too unusual until you hear where the money came from. I asked Gabe how he collected that much money so quickly. He told me it was his. He said it was money he had saved to buy a scooter. Concerned that his parents did not know about his gift, I called his mother, Amanda. She said Gabe really wanted to do this.
